ABOUT

the idea

In the course of European history, from the Greeks to the Romans over the Middle Ages up to the modern age, there is a clear relationship between „art“ and its influence on the physical and mental well-being as well as its detectable advantages for the prevention of diseases. For this reason, we have designed a transnational and inter-professional project on the domain of art therapy.

The aim of the project is to exchange good practices, establish strategic partnerships and develop innovative and effective methods for professionals in the pedagogical, therapeutic and artistic field to provoke positive change for vulnerable groups.

In line with the European strategy for 2020, we aspire to significantly improve the field of adult education in terms of quality and quantity. Our holistic approach enables professionals to continue their education and to apply innovative practices that aid individual as well as social transformation. At the same time it offers an opportunity for art therapy in our society to provide more visibility and recognition.
